

Washington State Genealogical Society

recognizes

Patricia Rae (Fish) McLaren

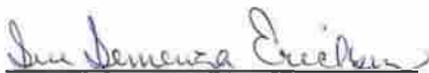

of Wenatchee, Washington

for exceptional support of the goals and operation of Wenatchee Area Genealogical Society and outstanding efforts in the preservation of important records of genealogical value to the Society and other researchers interested in the families of Washington State.

Pat McLaren continues to distinguish herself in untiring support of the Wenatchee Area Genealogical Society. She served as liaison between the Society and the Wenatchee Valley Museum and Cultural Center for the Museum's 2010 Wedding Gown Spring Tea. She chaired the committee researching for the owners and donors of the gowns. She also has served as a volunteer librarian in the Society's Library. For the past three years, Pat has spent 1 to 2 days a week working on our Jones & Jones Funeral Home Project, a collection of more than 20,000 funeral records to be archived in the Society's library. She has processed thousands of the records; indexing, proofing and, if necessary, doing additional research and correcting them. Pat, along with Ida Wheeler and others on the team, continues to work on this project to provide a huge resource of critical genealogical data for the members and patrons of the Society's library. Pat McLaren's dedication, time and effort given to this huge project, are greatly appreciated by the Wenatchee Area Genealogical Society and all who are searching for their ancestors in North Central Washington.

Given this 18th day of September in the year 2010, at the annual meeting of Washington State Genealogical Society at Chehalis, Washington.
